Have You Tied Down the Governor?

Once upon a time there was an engineer in charge of a splendid engine. It did good work, but because it did good work he thought it could do better. He thought he could safely violate all mechanical laws. He took chances. He tied down the governor. Engine and engineer were blown to atoms. His wife takes in washing. His children depend

Now I want you to take this lesson to heart. I want you to apply it to yourself. That is the value of all life's lessons —the personal application.

Are you trying to get out of your body and brain more than nature designed them to do? Are you annoyed by the warnings that are Nature's safety valve? Have you tied down the governor so you won't hear them-put on greater pressure-defied all of nature's laws-and expect to get away with it? You won't.

You can't avoid diseases by shutting your eyes to the symptoms of disease. If you ignore the warning signals of nature, sooner or later disaster will overtake you. Suppose you break down a nervous wreck, what will become of your family? Have you ever thought of that? I could fill pages telling you of symptom after symptom which to the mind of the specialist clearly points to nervous breakdown. Symptoms that you ignore, treat lightly. But I can tell you a much simpler, plainer, clearer way
